Tuesday digest

August 21, 2012

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Charles Hefling on the new Episcopal same-sex rite: "The new liturgy makes no claim that couples of the same sex can, in the ecclesiastical sense, marry. What it does say is more interesting." (subscription required)
- Jane Messah on being called to more than a job
- o David Lewicki on negotiation and conflict resolution
- Wallace Bubar's lectionary column for Sunday, September 2 (subscription required)

In the news:

- Report shows 5,000+ multisite churches
- Obama and Romney offer rare glimpse of their spiritual lives
- Is skinny-dipping in the Sea of Galilee sacrilegious?