

Thursday digest

October 18, 2012

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Christine Pohl on kindness in a ruthless world: "Kindness overlaps significantly with several of Paul's other 'fruit of the spirit.' What makes it a distinctive mark of the new creation?" (subscription required)
- Steve Thorngate on Romney's fiscal plans and the difference between competence and intent
- Amy Frykholm looks at Yarom Hazony's take on Cain and Abel
- Lil Copan on artwork by Lanie Gannon (subscription required)

In the news:

- Jewish and Christian groups at impasse over U.S. aid to Israel
- Analysis: As Mitt Romney moves to the middle, anti-abortion activists try to cover his right flank