Friday digest

December 7, 2012

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Rodney Clapp on the Bible's discomfort food: "The Gideon Bible treats the Bible as comfort food. But a diet of the Bible consists of conflict and confrontation." (subscription required)
- Barry Harvey on the new Fortress collection of Bonhoeffer's sermons (subscription required)
- Diane Roth on what makes ministry worthwhile
- Steve Thorngate on a collection of anti-suffragette postcards
- "Christmas Eve," a poem by Jerry Walls