

Wednesday digest

February 27, 2013

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Edward J. Blum kicks off "Then and Now," a new weekly blog feature by American religious historians
- Rodney Clapp on violence in movies: "Filmmakers often defend cinematic violence by drawing a line between entertainment and the real world. But this devalues their work."
- Debra Bendis on the Violence Against Women Act and Native American women
- Lois Huey-Heck on artwork by Grace Carol Bomer (subscription required)