Hickory tree vision

by Hannah VanderHart in the October 10, 2018 issue the closest I have been to vision was a yellow tree, every leaf touched flame, angels, apparition but the saints say a sight of God happens in a moment, the beat of a moth's wings: fold and open