oh, how redundant

by Carl Winderl in the December 16, 2020 issue those poor poor shepherds on My Son's frightfully frigid natal night brought to Him a gift, their single solitary best begotten present a newborn lamb, a living sacrifice holy, acceptable while all I could think of before offering my thanks to their giving was, oh, that poor poor ewe