

Word: Matthew (The Headless Baptist)

reviewed by Lil Copan in the August 8, 2012 issue

LePage combines his delight in graphic design with his dogged intention of reading scripture. The result is a website and graphic design that's playful, reverent, irreverent, provocative—introducing biblical stories and themes with graphic power. Says LePage, "When I read the Bible now, I'm using my imagination to play a movie of what I'm reading—what it looks like. Maybe most people already do this, but everything I read, I got into the habit of combing for anything visual. Now, I've begun to think visually: What does the lion and the lamb look like?"

—Lil Copan