

Friday digest

August 24, 2012

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Jason Byassee on Sherlock: "Theologians have long posited an omniscient God. The British TV show Sherlock delights us with an omniscient human being."
- Steve Thorngate on Tom Morello's gratuitous response to Paul Ryan
- Richard Kauffman on imagining a world without Walmart

In the news:

- National Cathedral gets boost for repair effort
- Faith and rights groups call for hate crime hearings
- Cardinal Timothy Dolan's GOP convention blessing prompts debate