

Thursday digest

November 1, 2012

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Lillian Daniel on the AAR-SBL meeting and the Hyatt boycott: "Scholars traveling to Chicago for the joint AAR-SBL meeting will have to make hard decisions—beginning with where to lay their heads."
- Bruce Epperly reviews David Felten and Jeff Procter-Murphy (subscription required)
- Amy Frykholm on the need for a shared vocabulary for talking about climate change
- Steve Thorngate on the response to Kathleen Flake's article on Mormon scripture

In the news:

- Sultans of Satire aims to bridge gaps with Muslims, Arabs through comedy
- On Sistine Chapel's 500th, foot traffic remains a threat
- Female Lutheran pastor mounts uphill bid for Ohio congressional seat