

Thursday digest

August 29, 2013

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Another ministry scenario by Ellen Blue, with a response by Stephanie Paulsell: "Roberta insisted that although her first husband had abused her, Hank had never hit her. Neither Ian nor Abigail believed these assurances." (subscription required)
- Matt Hedstrom on the Supreme Court and the nonexistence of "religion"
- Debra Dean Murphy on Miley and MLK
- Lawrence Cunningham reviews Denys Turner's Aquinas book (subscription required)
- Steve Thorngate on the Raleigh PD's crackdown on feeding the hungry
- A brief review of Michael Kramer

In the news:

- Pope Francis, Jordan king say dialogue is 'only option' in Syria conflict