Apocalypse is beautiful

by Steven Peterson in the January 2024 issue

Apocalypse is beautiful when seen from far away. Our latest telescope retells a distant disarray:

Two galaxies collide, one dies, and yet we do not weep, but say, "What colors! What design!" and get a good night's sleep.