

Episode 41: Theologian Elizabeth Johnson, author of Come, Have Breakfast

A conversation with theologian Elizabeth Johnson about God as creator, rock, dove, verb, and more

July 15, 2024

Welcome to Madang Podcast.

Madang is the outdoor living room of the world. Here, we invite you to sit and tune into unreserved, remarkable conversations with renowned authors, leaders, public figures, and scholars on religion, culture, and everything in-between.

Here in Madang's 41st episode, I converse with theologian Elizabeth Johnson about her newest book, Come, Have Breakfast. Professor, mentor, writer, editor, and public lecturer at home and abroad, Johnson currently serves as distinguished professor of theology at Fordham University. She is a former president of the Catholic Theological Society of America, the oldest and the largest society of theologians in the world, as well as a former president of the American Theological Society, an ecumenical association. Johnson has received fifteen honorary doctorates, the John Courtney Murray Award for distinguished achievement in theology, and numerous other accolades.

On this episode, we discuss her newest book, Come, Have Breakfast. She talks about God as creator, rock, dove, and verb—and so much more. I am grateful to Homebrewed Christianity, Good Faith Media and Orbis Books for sponsoring this episode. Please check out their websites to learn about their work, see upcoming events, and donate.

Register for Homebrewed Christianity Theology Beer Camp. Check out Good Faith Media's podcasts, columns, books and events. Order Come, Have Breakfast from Orbis Books and use discount code "MAD" for 30% off.

Please reach out to me if you would like to sponsor the next episode of Madang podcast. Or simply support me here.